

Home

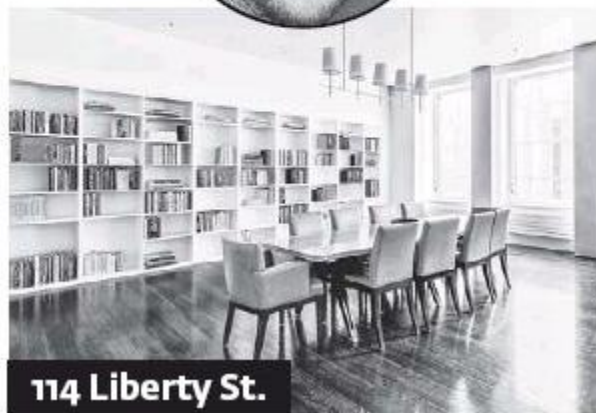

Ciao down on this

THIS might just be the smallest price chop ever. Ignazio Cipriani (inset), a fourth-generation member of the famous restaurateur and hotelier family, has dropped the ask on his full-floor loft in the Financial District to $7.995 million — down a mere $5,000 from the $8 million price when it listed in April. Ignazio bought it with his father Giuseppe for $7.3 million in 2017, according to city reords. The 5,400-square-foot condo at 114 Liberty St. comes with a private elevator landing, six bedrooms and six bathrooms. It's also smart-wired and features 12-foot-high ceilings, soundproof windows, original columns and stained white oak floors. The master suite features leather-wrapped cabinetry and two of its own marble bathrooms. The building dates to 1901. The brokers are Douglas Elliman's Devin Hugh Leahy, Ariel Sassoon and David Dubin.

114 Liberty St.

Douglas Elliman